Reminiscences of Andrew Johnson.

The sudden and unexpected elevation of Andrew Johnson to the Presidential chair, at this critical juncture in the Nation's history, coupled with the unfavorable reports with regard to his habits that had gained credence just previous to the assassination of President Lincoln, has created a very natural anxiety in the public mind to learn something definite in relation to the personal habits, mental characteristics, and moral qualities of the new President. A gentleman of this city who served six years in Congress with Andrew Johnson, during four of which he boarded in the same house, and was on very intimate terms with him, has kindly furnished us with the following reminiscences of Mr. Johnson as he appeared to all at that time. It is proper to add that although the intimacy here spoken of existed fifteen or twenty years ago, yet the acquaintance has been often renewed since that time, and only four years ago, after the breaking out of the Rebellion, frequent interviews were had between our informant and Mr. Johnson, at which time he exhibited the same characteristics and habits as formerly.

HIS BUSINESS HABITS.

The business habits of Mr. Johnson, were unusually strict; he was very industrious and always made it a point to attend personally to each and every duty devolving upon him, with promptitude. All correspondence relating to his business as a public man and to the interests of his constituents which he received during the day, were invariably answered at night before he retired. With regard to his Congressional duties he was exceedingly punctual and scarcely ever missed being in his seat in the House and voting upon every question that came up. He took more than ordinary pains to inform himself personally of the merits of every question that came before the House, and no man had the reputation of being more conscientious in his votes, or less influenced by unworthy motives, than Mr. Johnson. As to his personal habits they were at that time irreproachable. He was temperate in all things, and in the matter of intoxicating drinks his habits were nearly those of total abstinence.

HIS MENTAL CHARACTERISTICS.

A marked feature in Mr. Johnson's character at that time was firmness, self-reliance, and independence. By some he might be thought to be stubborn, but this feature of his character was manifested only when he felt sure he was right. In such cases it made no difference to him whether the position he took was in accordance with that taken by his party (he was then a Democrat) or not, and his independence in this respect often gave great annoyance to his party friends. An instance of this kind occurred on the incoming of President Polk's administration. The Democratic party during the Presidential campaign had made great ado about the extravagance of the Whigs, particularly in the fitting up and furnishing of the White House, and Mr Johnson, with others of his party, had often made this a telling point in his speeches before the people. But no sooner had President Polk taken his seat than a heavy appropriation was introduced for refurnishing the Presidential mansion. Mr. Johnson was one of the few democrats who opposed it, and all the remonstrances of his party friends only made him still more vehement in his opposition. He repudiated with scorn the idea that the arguments he had addressed to his constituents were to be regarded as only electioneering tricks, and that so soon as his party succeeded he was at liberty to go back on all he had said.

Notwithstanding his firmness and independence of mind, he was always ready and anxious to take advice and counsel from others upon questions that he did not fully understand. He did not claim to know everything himself, and on all subjects out of the range of his own investigations and knowledge he was ever ready to adopt the suggestion of those whom he thought thoroughly understood the subject, and generally followed their advice.

HIS OPINION OF SLAVERY.

When we consider the radical change that has taken place in the public mind upon the question of slavery during the past four years, it may not be deemed a matter of much importance to establish the consistency of any man's views on that subject at the present time with the views entertained by the same man previous to the slaveholders' rebellion; but with reference to Andrew Johnson it is worthy of note that his opinion of the justice, the morality, and the economy of negro slavery have not undergone any change since the time he was a member of Congress, twenty years ago. His views of the danger to our liberties and Union that lurked in the institution, and the necessity of speedily and forever ridding the country of it, have doubtless undergone a change, but with regard to the divinity of the institution, or the right and wrong of slavery, they are the same now that they were then. Our informant states that he frequently had conversations with Mr. Johnson upon this subject, as long ago as 1843-4, and he was not a little surprised to find that, even then, he was radically opposed to the whole system, and dwelt with great warmth upon its injustice, and the baneful influence it exerted upon the prosperity of his own State of Tennessee.

NOT SECTIONAL IN HIS VIEWS.

Mr. Johnson was remarkably free from the sectionality that characterized most Southern members of Congress. He talked little about "Southern rights," and least of all did he boast of "Southern chivalry." He had seen too much of this latter quality to entertain a very high opinion of its worth, and he had suffered too much in his own career as a self made man, from its champions, to ever become their admirers or apologists. His sympathies were altogether with the masses of his countrymen, whether at the North or South, and in all his public acts and his private conversation he manifested a desire to promote the best interests of the whole country.

A STRICT ECONOMIST.

No man was in favor of holding public officers to a stricter account in their financial dealings with the Government than he; and it is the opinion of our informant that any shortcomings in this regard on the part of office holders will meet with the most rigorous treatment from the present incumbent of the Presidential chair.

HIS KINDNESS OF HEART.

In all his social relations Mr. Johnson was a most kind hearted man. In this respect he was not unlike Mr. Lincoln. His friendships were strong and lasting, and no man would go farther to serve a friend in whom he trusted than he; but he would never allow his personal friendship to interfere with what he regarded as his duty to the public. It is the opinion of our informant that those of the South who expect that the elevation of Mr. Johnson to the Presidency will result in greater leniency to leading traitors because he is a Southern man, will find themselves grievously disappointed; and that the fears of his Northern friends and political partisans in that regard will prove equally groundless. As to the masses of the Southern people his policy will not be that of harshness or persecution.

NOT A VAIN MAN.

Mr. Johnson is not, in any respect, a vain man, though his frequent allusions to his personal history as a poor man, coming from the people, might lead some to entertain that idea. Unlike many men who have been the architects of their own fortunes, he still retains his faith in the masses, and his frequent hits at the Southern aristocracy, instead of being an ebullition of personal vanity, betray a continued adherence to those principles of Democracy with which he set out in his career, and from the opponents of which he encountered so much opposition and prejudice in his career. For simple personal vanity he entertains a profound contempt, as was shown on one occasion when he was a member of the House of Representatives. A distinguished Senator, notorious for his vanity, had introduced a bill for the creation of the rank of Lieutenant General, and was reported to have given out that he would be the man on whom the new rank would be conferred. Mr. Johnson opposed the creation of the new title, and in the course of his speech said, in allusion to the author of the bill, that "from the vanity and egotism displayed by this man during the last twenty years, he would be inclined to believe that if a vacancy were to occur in the throne of the Almighty, he would be the first candidate announced."

It is proper to state in conclusion, that the position taken by Mr. Johnson is from a gentleman who never has been and is not now, a member or adherent of the Republican party, but having often interrogated him about the new President by those who were aware of the intimacy that formerly existed between them, he has given the foregoing reminiscences as embodying the opinions that he then formed of his character.—Bulletin.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 4, 1865

English Sympathy.

The London Quarterly Review plainly enough speaks what it asserts the opinion of the oldest class of England in a long review of the positions taken by Messrs. Cobden and Bright and the Marquis of [illegible] on American affairs. The [illegible] of course is the favorite for the London Quarterly is too much Tash to consider with two of the most practical reformers of the age and too aristocratic in its tone to quote approvingly the opinions of any one beneath a peer. With infinite relish it speaks of "the collapse of the great experiment of Democracy." Its whole tone is in unison with the rebel press, and almost equal to the editorial rantings of the Peace Democracy in the United States. Under the title of "The United States as an Example" it goes at length into the merits and demerits of the American question, which is seen with Confederate eyes and treated according to Tory instinct. It has not words enough at command to denounce as it would the attempt of the United States to preserve the Union. The South had a multitude of grievances at the outset, and has been made the victim of oppression, simply because the money loving Yankee would not surrender at dis retion and has proved to the world what was a matter of doubt before, that he could forget the "Almighty Dollar" and give up life itself to preserve his Nation's honor.

We are accused of fighting "Empire" not for the legitimate end of destroying slavery, which every Briton seems to concede would be a worthy English end to aim at if we would aim at no other. The motives of the South are high and noble, of course; they wont be slaves, they have that much Briton in them, and the London Quarterly sees it. We are persecuting them inhumanly; they are offered all such comparisons as Poland, while we resemble the "Arabs under Mahomet" while "Nero and the Caligulas" are clever fellows in comparison with our rulers and generals.

It is surprising with what ability the London Quarterly sees the Confederate side of the picture, astonishing to hear it predict that the thing can't be done. They will never yield, for they can fight eternally—for instance—with the light of three months experience, our readers can see them at it now. It is rather a pity the Quarterly could not have seen things as we see them. It might have saved "the educated classes of England" from being pledged by its verbiage to a mass of contemptible twaddle, that it must have borrowed from Copperhead editorials, if it would own the truth. By the light of history we are not the barbarous people it pronounces us. The devastating and inhuman policy of the National Government has not come out in contrast with the acts of the rebellion and the "Vandal policy" the Review prates of, is simply war—plain and undiluted war.

The stampede of surrenders that we daily read of, do not foreshadow the "military despotism that must always rule the South." The flight of Jeff Davis & Co. is not in the programme the English tories have had printed for circulation in its pages. The continued efforts of the Northern people do not fulfill its prophecies of their "abandonment of the contest," nor does Great Britain show any desire or intention to commence or provoke the foreign war deemed so dangerous and threatening to us. The counsels of prudence and peace that have successfully followed have not been of English suggestion, and the depth of English sympathy for secession the Review boasts of manifested as it has been by the furnishing of ships to the Confederate corsairs and supplying arms and munitions to help the Confederate cause, to any nothing of blockade running which cannot have paid overmuch on the cash invested.

We are victorious in the field, and successful in the Cabinet. We can afford to treat with contempt all such slanderers at home or abroad, for however much this voice that echoes aristocracy may defame us and claim to represent the "education" of the mother country in the act, we can let results speak for us, and doubt that the intelligence of Great Britain denounces us, until it is manifested in other journals than the London Times or the London Quarterly.

THE EXTRA SESSION AGAIN.—The Statesman of this week contains a very captious—in fact rather a peevish editorial devoted to the OREGONIAN and the article we lately published on the Extra Session question. We then mentioned the positions taken by the different Union papers of the State, and among the rest, alluded to the Statesman, respectfully enough, as far as we could see then or can see now. The whole run of the last number of that paper consists in saying "Oregonian man" several times, and repeating our remark, that the question is above the petty strategy of a State politician. We appear to have trod on somebody's corns, but have no occasion to apologize. There are "petty politicians" in Oregon, but their "strategy" does not penetrate the OREGONIAN office. No politician points its editorials or directs its course. Our position as to an Extra Session was plain enough. We proposed that mid summer would be soon enough to decide if a special session is necessary, and then to be governed by circumstances. We don't see that the Statesman has materially different grounds. We would advise that paper in future, to deal fairly with all subjects, and not garble and torture the words and ideas of another as it tries to do this week. Ill nature is a bad thing to have in a family, but the better policy is to hide it in preference to publishing it to the world.

FROM WALLA WALLA.—We see by the Statesman of April 29th that Judge Wyche has been appointed United States District Judge for that District for the term of four years.

The steamer Gazelle had made the trip through to Lewiston. Judge Smith of Lewiston District Judge, has decided that the Capitol of Idaho is still at Lewiston, which leaves the Capital question more mixed than ever.

Provisions are said to be very scarce and high in [illegible]. Starvation is anticipated by some. Flour is hardly to be had at all.

Work had commenced on the new flouring mill of [illegible].

Christopher White, tried for killing Reuben Highbarger, was found guilty. The jury considered the [illegible] self defence.

The Irwin theatrical troupe was performing at that place.

FROM OWYHEE AND THIS SIDE.—From Judge Clough who left Jordan creek April 22d, we learn that at that time the snow laid deep on the creek and on the mountains. The two mills on Jordan creek were in operation, but all other interests were inactive so far as he knew. It will be June in his opinion before anything of importance [illegible] quartz mining. There was no snow [illegible] creek leading to Snake river and [illegible] Snake river valley. Quite a depth of snow lay in the Blue mountains. He came by Walla Walla, which route he thinks much the best at the present time.

NEW YORK, April [illegible]. The Great Eastern [illegible] April [illegible].

The fall of Richmond [illegible] the attention of the [illegible]. At [illegible] it was known at [illegible] only [illegible] afterwards [illegible].

The London Times thinks [illegible] Richmond [illegible] with the [illegible] Grant and [illegible] the future [illegible] the North will be easy, but if we have now arrived at the [illegible] stage of a political revolution the real trouble of the North are just beginning.

The Star considers the fall of Richmond [illegible] as the end of the Slaveholders' Rebellion. It thinks Davis and Lee [illegible] carry on their [illegible] Mississippi [illegible].

The Daily Telegraph says [illegible] beyond human probability that the Confederacy should conquer its independence [illegible] Richmond is the [illegible].

The Herald [illegible] Admitting the [illegible] they must now [illegible].

In the Paris Chamber Deputies on an amendment to the address proposing a paragraph on American affairs favorable to the North, [illegible] made a speech highly [illegible] of the northern cause and pointing that the proslavery rebellion was [illegible] by the fall of Richmond. He thought the American question ought not to have been passed over in silence. In the speech from the [illegible] Pelleton was continually interrupted by Southern sympathizers in the Chamber and finally was compelled to desist owing to the noise. The amendment received 21 votes but was of course like all other amendments rejected. Many prominent members abstained from voting. The address was finally voted entire and presented to the Emperor, who returned thanks in a brief speech.

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, May [illegible].—The steamer Constitution took $[illegible] in treasure and a large number of passengers.

A large number of the lumber dealers on Stewart street having become tired of paying high rents and hoping to better their condition have recently purchased [illegible] lots south of [illegible] between First and Beale streets, on which they intend erecting [illegible] wharves and buildings necessary for the prosecution of their business, and removed there as soon as possible.

Judge Pratt to day ordered that unless plaintiff remitted $[illegible] from the $[illegible] awarded him in the suit of A. M. [illegible] vs. [illegible] Webber a new trial should be granted. The action was brought to recover damages for personal injuries caused by plaintiff who was shot by defendant in Stockton, for which injuries he recovered a verdict of $[illegible].

Captain Paul, of the ship [illegible], who was convicted and sentenced to six months imprisonment in the county jail for ill treatment of his crew has been pardoned by the President. He will not be released until the documents granting the pardon arrive.

This morning John Davis was instantly killed by the falling of an old building on [illegible] street running from Folsom to Harrison, between Seventh and Eighth.

About fifty ejectment suits have been commenced in the District courts this morning for the recovery of [illegible] lands. The actions are brought under the law passed by the last Legislature, under which their claims are [illegible] unless suit is brought before the [illegible] May. The suits are still coming in.

The movement in this city to raise a handsome sum of money to be presented to Mrs. Lincoln was commenced to day. It is proposed that the amount of each subscription shall not exceed one dollar. The movement is meant to be in concert with one started in the east, the object of which is to raise $100,000 by one dollar subscriptions, as a testimonial of the Nation's love for the martyred President and to insure the lifelong comfort of his family. The [illegible] are responding to the call cheerfully and a very large sum will be raised in this city if it is properly canvassed.

Manufacturing.—The foundries of the city ... we have three excellent ones, all appear to be ... engaged in the manufacture of quartz mills, ... boilers, etc., by which the abundant resources of our mineral regions are to be developed. A ... & Co., of the Oregon Iron Works, corner of Morrison and ... streets, have just completed an 8-stamp mill for ... county Idaho, which was made with engine ... complete for Gen. Humason and ... of the Dalles. The Mountaineer says this ... by competent judges as complete ... ever turned out on the coast. Messrs. ... & Co. are manufacturing mills constantly, of the ... kinds, and the capitalists of our country ... know that they can get these things on short notice. Fifty-five men are employed at that establishment ... and some of the finishing lathes are kept running night and night. David Monastes, of the Portland ... has lately finished up several machines, engines, etc., which are to perform important parts in the ... of our country, and is at present engaged in the ... of the Dredging Machine by which the ... of the Willamette river are to be removed. The ... city, on Oak street, is also full of work. We ... slider, with a full set of workmen engaged in manufacturing of steamboat engines, ... of which are well on in a state of completion. One ... for a new side-wheel steamer building above the ... by Evans & Co., for the Dalles trade. The ... is a ferry boat, ... now in course ... at Westport, by Capt. John Douglas and ... on the Willamette river between Portland and East Portland.

...—By the arrival of the steamer John H. ... we have the Marine Gazette of May 25. The ... the day set apart by the Government for the funeral ceremonies of the late lamented ... in a becoming manner. Judge Shattuck delivered an able and appropriate address to a large audience at the Court House. The citizens nearly all participated, and the town during the entire day wore the ... of Sunday. The pleasure seekers have been ... in the direction of the sea-side, and according ... and ... to the best of our knowledge and ... that is lacking to make the Summer House ... the Saratoga of the Pacific Coast, is ... and liberal patronage, which we doubt not it ... from our citizens generally, during the coming ... One of the military prisoners ... Hancock, made his escape during last week ... Mr. Geo. Thatcher, and Mr. ... this city and the Dalles, visited Bruceport ... of collecting some goods which were on ... when wrecked as saved by the citizens of ... Bay. Having collected sundry packages, ... on board a boat the evening before starting ... the night some rascals stole and secreted ... The schooner San Diego, Capt. Foster, ... with 1,400 sacks of Shoalwater Bay oysters, ... lost her anchors, and was compelled to ... for repairs, before finally sailing for ...

... of Stock.—The stock boat of the O. S. N. ... the steamer Julia, has made twenty trips between ... place and the Cascades, carrying stock, since ... of February. The following shows the number ... and the class of animals, as well as the number ... passengers, accompanying the same, taken from the ... of Capt. Strang:

... steamer, Wilson G. Hunt, on the line ... the United States Mail and Wells, Fargo ... has taken a proportion nearly as large ... but we have no report of it.

...—A woman by the name of Elora ..., was picked up in the street by the Police, at a late hour Tuesday night, in a state of intoxication. ... to give her place of lodging or residence, ... up in the city jail. Being brought into ... Court yesterday, she was fined $5 and costs, ... being severely reprimanded, and given an opportunity to pay the penalty without commitment ... no better. Buckskin Bill, alias Wild Bill ... today on a case continued yesterday, for disorderly conduct, in smashing windows, &c., of a house on ... The complaint against a number of bad ... comes up for a hearing to-day.

...—Judge Clough returned to this city by ... Wilson G. Hunt last evening, after a trip of ... weeks' duration, in which time he has visited Boise ... We learn from him that the snow is abundant ... quartz-mills thumping away, and bullion in a ... city, with good prospects for a steady increase. ... Esq., has recently left the place with ... of bricks from the mill of Moore & Fogus, the weight ... was something over seventeen hundred ounces, ... $1 10 and $7 per ounce. The road is said to be ... condition, nevertheless Judge C. has made an ... quick trip, considering that he had business ... while absent that demanded considerable time.

... Exchange.—There were no transactions at ... regular meeting of the Portland Stock and Exchange ... day, and the report stands as follows:

	Asked.	Offered.
Legal tender notes.....	73	72½
Shares O. S. N. Company	85	80
" Garrison Guaranteed	$30	$20

Legal Tenders sold on the street at 73.

... We received last evening a friendly call ... W. F. Boyakin, late of the Corvallis Gazette ... has resigned the chair editorial in connection with ... paper, and is on his way prospecting towards the ... country. The editor called apparently to settle up ... account of not unfrequently sparring, he ... in between us last winter, and after having seen ... we are able to say that the "Fat Duck" still holds ... here.

Auction Sales.—Kilbourn & Co. advertise a great sale of staple and fancy dry goods, which is to come off, without reserve on Friday next, at the Pioneer building, corner of Washington and Front streets. The goods are late importations, direct from New York, and comprise a ... assortment. The ladies are invited to call and ... the goods on Friday morning, previous to the sale.

The "Golden Fleece" Safe.—The bark Golden Fleece, which was lately reported on the rocks outside of San Francisco, in a precarious condition, has arrived at her ... at length. She has a large amount of freight for this city, and our merchants were somewhat anxious for her.

United States Circuit Court.—The most of the day yesterday, was consumed in arguing the exceptions to the ... of the defendants, in the case of Chapman vs. the city of Portland, and School District No. 1, which was finally submitted.

... Saloon.—We refer to the new plan of ... & Gross, proprietors of the Cosmopolitan, who ... open their saloon for the accommodation of ... coffee, oysters, or a "square meal," until ... See advertisement.

... —By referring to our advertising ... this morning, it will be seen that persons owning stock in the Morning Star Gold and Silver Tunnel ... are requested to pay assessments to Director ...

Off the Bar.—From persons who arrived by the steamer John H. ... on Tuesday night we learn that ... vessel only was seen off the Bar, supposed to be the ... A. A. Eldridge, Williams, from Honolulu.

Funeral Notice.—The funeral of Harriet F. Taylor will take place at 2 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon from the house of her mother on Sixth street between ... and Main streets. Friends are invited.

Multnomah No. 2.—Regular Monthly Meeting this (Thursday) evening at 7½ o'clock precisely.

W. L. LEONARD, Sec'y.

The Arrest by the Provost Marshal at Salem.—Our dispatches some days since told of the arrest of John Baker at Salem, and his examination before Captain Keeler, United States Provost Marshal, on the charge of having rejoiced over the murder of the President. We see by the ... several witnesses testified to the use of improper language by Baker in that connection, but the main charges were not proved; that he expressed pleasure at hearing the news and illuminated his house. Baker seemed to prove that he was fairly treated, and we also ... having done wrong. It is for the credit of our State that the charges were not proven. We are glad to do the Provost Marshal the justice to say that he did his duty in the premises.

The Life of Cæsar, by Louis Napoleon, has been published, and is the subject of much comment in literary circles.

Notice.—The Stockholders of the MORNING STAR GOLD AND SILVER TUNNEL COMPANY will pay their assessments on the first of each month at the following places as may suit their convenience: At the office of the Morning Star Gold and Silver Tunnel Company, Silver City, Owyhee county, at the store of Crawford, Sholes & Co., Boise City, at the store of Fanny & Stearns, Idaho City, at the office of Geo. A. P. Gibbs, Portland, Oregon. A. C. SWIFT President.

When the delicate tissues of the Lungs once become diseased, the progress of fire is scarcely swifter or more fatal than it is if the disease is permitted to go unchecked. When cough, pain in the lungs, or oppression first set in, resort to Allen's Lung Balsam, which will surely cure you. For sale by
SMITH & DAVIS, Agents,
Portland, Oregon.
Also, by the Dealers in Family Medicines, generally.

A Universal Medicine.—By what we eat, by the air we breathe, or by the water we drink, we can be made sick, because these effects end by producing impurity of blood. To regain health we must purify the blood by the organs of the stomach and bowels; these organs must be continued in the regular performance of that duty which nature has assigned them, and should there be any impediment, to what does experience point? To BRANDRETH'S PILLS, which cannot injure, and which will surely restore the bowels to their regular performance of their duties.

The dyspeptic, the bilious, will find them a treasure of health, and the same may be said to all who are sick in any way. Take BRANDRETH'S PILLS and be cured.

W. F. BRANDRETH,
Office at CRANE & BRIGHAM'S,

WISTAR'S BALSAM
—OF—
HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY HALF A CENTURY,
WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING
Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.
There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known, so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.
In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.
The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of
has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these.

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas, for the fame and virtue of WISTAR'S BALSAM have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS.
After October 1, 1864, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be enclosed in a new wrapper, which will bear the printed names of both SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, Mass., and JOHN D. PARK, Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as fac-simile of the signatures of "I. BUTTS," "SANFORD & PARK," and "H. WISTAR, M. D."

Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.
NEWELL'S
PULMONARY SYRUP
HAS CURED THOUSANDS!
And it will Cure You!
"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences, as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—[Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAT COUGHING!
Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but

Pulmonary Syrup!
Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM?
Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!
Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP.
KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

The Constitutional Amendment.

SOME REASONS WHY IT SHOULD BE RATIFIED AND WHY [illegible]

Having read with some care the different opinions expressed by newspapers in this State and [illegible] the policy or duty of Oregon in the above [illegible], I propose to review them as to subject briefly and tersely as possible, and, what I wish the object, as offered, present the affirmative side of the issue to the candid consideration of my fellow citizens.

Objection has been made [illegible] of the expense. [illegible] days session [illegible] the amendment [illegible] currency [illegible] would more than offset this.

Objection has been made, that by [illegible] the issue may be [illegible] party at the next election. [illegible] to swap horses in the middle of a stream, [illegible] is it any time to adjust [illegible] midst [illegible] and political [illegible] one of [illegible] inferior offices [illegible] used the Irishman and the Dutchman [illegible] make no issues [illegible] itself to the chances of success. [illegible] as well as we that slavery is dying, is dead! and though [illegible] to the corpse! We need not fear any of it or its power, however, under that name. In my humble judgment the name Democracy like the black term slavery is loathed. The shot at Booth was not more fatal to the President than it was to the Democratic party. In America no party [illegible] man can wear the assassin's brand and live. [illegible] Abel [illegible] shall only be [illegible] to warn the world [illegible] eternal [illegible] party of truth, [illegible] principles of progress [illegible] with [illegible] the sword of the executioner should not [illegible] for policy [illegible] thing but principle, justice, humanity, hope and God, and do the right.

Another objection is that the present members were not elected upon that issue. Not exactly true, for the issue has been much discussed and at the late session the Legislature instructed for the measure. The members were elected under the State Constitution to serve for two years and must act upon the questions that may arise or need action for and during the term for which they are elected. Suppose eight or ten hundred rebel guerillas, bushwhackers, jayhawkers and horse thieves driven from the western border come into this State and put their renegade voice into the next election, which is nearest right? That's a question at issue now and should be decided by a Constitutional and Union vote now or by a secession and [illegible] vote then.

And a last objection that I have noticed, is that if we do not now, and not enough States act inclusive of the seceded States, to make three fourths in all, it will do no good. It cannot [illegible] come law. A President and two Congresses have been elected, and have acted for over four years. Their warrant has been that they were within the Constitution. States that got outside of it had no right to complain. The Constitution provides for the alteration of its fundamental law by legislation; the same mode by which it provides for and executes its governmental law. The Constitution is the guide. Any act which all may do under it, such may do as keep faithful to the Charter. A sound interpretation of the principles that govern the Nationalization of Republics, requires that States, unrepresented from voluntary dereliction, cannot by such non action, obstruct, delay or impede the Constitutional action of the remainder, as the Nation—the Republic.

If Missouri, Maryland and Arkansas passed this amendment, at the cost of a favorite domestic institution, and millions of dollars invested in slaves, and an hundred regiments raised for the war, cannot Oregon afford a small $1,000 and two home-service regiments in favor of freedom? If we cannot, God help us! We are too pompous and contemptible to live at all. We shall blind nobody by such frivolous objections. They will be set down as the echo (in Union breasts) of the hollow subterfuges to slavery—of the brood of the secession sympathisers with which this State is overrun, and its patriotic impulses paralyzed.

This amendment, then, being in favor of justice and right, should be at once adopted. No State should lag, or dally, or play with revolutions. History vindicates the—superstition if you please—that when God deals with a Nation, his work is rapid, continuous, thorough. He never forgives without repentance, never sends mercy but to bind up the wounds inflicted by justice, never sheaths the sword until restitution has followed retribution; never heals the sickened body without purgation of the ailment. The malady of our Constitution is its toleration of slavery, degrading the black man and demoralizing the white. Rome never fell, until slavery, begetting wealth to the few, enervated their patriotism, by luxury, vanity, pride and ambition. Republican simplicity gave way to imperial magnificence. The many, though born to equal rights, became the victims of the few, until the retributive justice of God destroyed them in their own madness, lust of power, and ambition. Universal history vindicates the verdict, that slavery, whether of white or black men, is opposed to the moral sense of civilized humanity. It is in defiance of every principle of justice, and is in opposition to every attribute of an enlightened christianity, and it is undeniable that African slavery, as practiced in America is a system of horrors! which treats immortal and redeemed men as chattels and brutes, denies them the rights of marriage, and of home, consigns them to ignorance of the first rudiments of education, and practices upon them all the outrages of lust and passion, and the religious world looks on with strong disapprobation, while churches, calling themselves christians affirm the divine origin and sanction of the detestable system; that national crime of which Jefferson said "he trembled for his country when he remembered that God is just," and that in a war for such a system the "Almighty had no attribute which could take sides with the slave holder." Predictions, whose fulfillment is written in characters of fire and blood upon the desolated fields and cities of the sinful South, while the homes of the North, guilty by its long complicity, bro[illegible] wasted, and its blood and treasure subsidized by an avenging Providence to the overthrow of the rebellion, and the raising of 4,000,000 of human beings to the enjoyment of their own labor—of the sacred rights of personal liberty—of preserving inviolate their heaven created conjugal and parental relations—of pursuing knowledge of all facts, principles and truths within the [illegible] of man, and of the untrammeled worship of God.

Were it not for the strange blindness of the predoomed as foreshown in all history, we should feel astonished that any people believing in a living God could not perceive that a war inaugurated to found, foster, or perpetuate slavery is the array of wrong, fraud, injury and crime against justice, right, humanity and God and could not result ably most any other end and doom than defeat, dishonor and felon death. And especially upon this continent is it proper and meet that we record our horror and detestation of slavery because of the reaction of its barbarities upon the white race, educating them as it has for half a century [illegible] indulgence in lust and passion [illegible] pride, violence and cruelty to become the ruthless filibusters of peace and the brutal Forrests, Morgans, Mosbys and Quantrells of war [illegible] omitting them [illegible] the common humanity of captors towards prisoners of respect for flags of truce or other acknowledged rights of combat, with—desecrating the dead, converting their bones into rings, trinkets and drinking cups, driving women before them to be shot down by the defenders of beleaguered walls, or compelling a surrender as the alternative of humanity [illegible] upon the high seas and in foreign lands all the [illegible] rights of belligerents or neutrals with equal iniquity [illegible] luckily proving [illegible] persons are [illegible] of States or [illegible] of nations.

It is a further cause of protest against the [illegible] of slavery that it [illegible] presses labor and labor [illegible] in America, [illegible] degrade [illegible] everywhere. [illegible] man, labor is a Divine decree. Man [illegible] self and well by his Creator with a [illegible] muscles and placed upon a barren earth, the inference is plain he is to use them in labor [illegible] ply his hourly wants and necessities. Any law, practice or institution tending to degrade labor is opposed to the highest good of humanity and is at enmity with the [illegible] mass of mankind [illegible] mainly as would sink the [illegible] necessaries and [illegible] establishment of the [illegible] ed as it would have [illegible] the rights of labor [illegible] gated calamity [illegible] the world. But thank [illegible] the laboring masses have [illegible] none but [illegible] Europe, and [illegible] more money in America, [illegible] shown any sympathy with that [illegible]

[illegible] and wicked outrages ever attempted upon the [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] W. LAWSON.

THE OREGON FARMER.

[illegible] What is it that some farmers get a [illegible] crop [illegible] and others [illegible]? This question [illegible] answered [illegible] better farming, better working the ground, better system of seeding the ground, better system of rotation of crops, of doing the right thing at the right time.

Farmers make discoveries of the manner of securing large crops almost by accident. The knowledge thus obtained disseminated by agricultural publications, is of great advantage to farmers who will avail themselves of it.

Some farmers are aware by [illegible] better crops of wheat than their neighbors. They take measures to destroy noxious weeds—they plow well—they are the [illegible] seed and make themselves sure that it is free from cheat and other seeds that would injure the expected crop—they plow their ground well, they put in the seed well and enough of it,—if the ground is wet they plow furrows to carry off superfluous water—they see that their crop is not injured by cattle getting upon it over or through miserable fences. When all this is done they can submit the matter to the care of Him who rewards upright industry directed by all the intelligence which the farmer has the means for obtaining.

It is an everlasting truth with farmers in their calling, as well as with other professions that "what is worth doing at all, is worth doing well."

FARM HOUSES.—The time has fully arrived when our farmers, if they do not intend to be behind the times must pay attention to the construction of their houses, and the ornamenting and making pleasant the grounds that surround them. The time has gone by when the back parts of the house are to be placed in the most exposed positions of the roads, the stable in disagreeable contiguity to the dwelling, and all kinds of broken wagons, plows, harrows, old stumps and logs and almost every thing conceivable, are to be found laying about in front or near the dwelling, without comment or causing remark. Steadily has improvement gone forward, and numerous farms now have comfortable houses, fine yards neat outbuildings, well cared for gardens and are beautiful and desirable residences. We like to see these improvements. They show that the people have become attached to the soil, to their homes, are good citizens, thrifty farmers and that their families have taste and intelligence. No man can pass a farm in the country, without judging from its condition something of the character of its occupants. Is it not so?

We have said that within a few years, great improvements are manifest in some portions of our country. This is strikingly true. Our women we apprehend, are the cause of most of it. Confined as they are mostly at home why should they not desire that their homes shall be made pleasant, convenient and a just pride to them? Nature has planted in the female breast a love for the beautiful. She will always feel a pride in well arranged yards ornamented with shrubbery of the small fruits and flowers,—the fruits pleasing to the taste, and the flowers pleasant to the eye. Oftentimes she makes great efforts to have all these matters in order, taking great pains to secure and plant out ornamental shrubs, trees, and flowering plants in which labors she is not always assisted by those who ought to have really as much interest in the improvements as herself. But we may again refer to this subject.

MATTERS OVER IN POLK.—A very bad state of feeling seems to exist over in Polk. As an instance of malignity that characterizes some persons up there, which has recently been brought to our knowledge, we may state that a minister in a certain church was heard to remark "That he was sorry that Lincoln was killed, as he had died with his soul stained with the blood of thousands of women and children." A member of his church wrote him a letter in regard to the matter insisting that a minister of the gospel had no right to make such remarks and that as such minister he must retract the same or explain it to him as one of the members of his church. In a few days afterward to his utter surprise, instead of receiving an explanation from his christian (?) teacher, he received an anonymous letter post marked [illegible] but evidently [illegible] written in an attempt ed disguised hand, threatening him, that unless he made a written apology to the preacher within one week that they "would horsewhip him in the streets of Lola." And further that if any Democrat was arrested in that county, our informant would be looked up as the cause, and "your lives will pay the forfeit." They further stated, that the threat was made after mature deliberation and that they had ample power to carry it into execution. The cowardly missive was commenced with a figure of the skull and cross bones and signed "S. S., [illegible]" The truth of the letter is a Poison [illegible] and are just such another unhung villain as the Assassin Booth.—Statesman.

OREGON CITY ELECTION.—The following were elected to fill the city offices at the election last Monday. There was no opposition ticket in the field.

Mayor, Forbes Barclay; Recorder, [illegible]; Councilmen, W. [illegible] W. Buck, [illegible] Lovejoy, [illegible] Taylor, Wm. Barlow, [illegible]; Treasurer, [illegible] W. C. SAFE,

The Only Protection

Against Fire and Burglars.

For the last Fifteen Years

This Safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific Coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the record that

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN

DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN TURBINE HAS many advantages over all other Wheels, both Turbines and Overshot.

It has competed successfully with every variety of Wheel, and has always proved itself victorious.

This Wheel has been in use nearly Three Years in the States and HAS NEVER MADE A FAILURE.

It is CHEAPER than an Overshot, MORE DURABLE, and will YIELD A HIGHER PER CENT OF POWER from the same quantity of water. We have introduced five on this coast. They are not all in operation yet, but will be in a few days. The following testimonial is from an old and experienced Mill wright well known in this State.

WESTPORT, CLATSOP CO., OREGON, Nov. 19th, 1864.

MESSRS LEFFEL & MYERS—Dear Sirs: We have plenty of water now and your DOUBLE TURBINE is in successful operation. We are satisfied that your Wheel is fully equal, if not superior to the Overshot. With the same water that the Overshot has we can do more work with the Turbine than with the Overshot. I have tried many Wheels which were claimed to be superior to an Overshot but yours is the first I have found. Hence we [illegible] recommend the American Double Turbine as the most efficient economizer of water in our knowledge.

JOHN WEST & CO.

We desire all who want Wheels to visit the [illegible] above facts.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

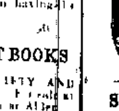

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus. CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD, heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
